“To accomplish great things, we must not only act, but also dream, not only plan, but also believe”. – Anatole France

It fills my heart with immense joy to express my gratitude towards all the people who have helped me through the amazing journey that led to the successful completion of this thesis.

With great humility and profound gratitude, I would like to sincerely thank my Supervisor Prof. Uma S. Dubey, Associate Professor, Birla Institute of Technology and Science, Pilani, Rajasthan for her profound contribution in shaping up the foundation of my research career. Her advice, support and constructive criticism have immensely helped in the development of critical and scientific thinking in me. My involvement with her in scientific discussions have helped me in evolving my intellectual maturity. Her constant support and encouragement has immensely aided in polishing my scientific temperament and thus guided me towards the completion of this thesis. She is a person with kind and compassionate heart.

I am also indebted to her family for being gentle and kind to me always, especially her husband, Prof. Balram Dubey. Words are less to reveal my indebtedness. I wish I could be as enthusiastic, dedicated and energetic as he is. Thank you very much, Sir and Madam for being so generous and for everything you have done for me.

I convey my grateful acknowledgement and thanks to my Doctoral Advisory Committee (DAC) members, Dr. Pankaj K. Sharma and Prof. Rajdeep Chowdhury for patiently listening to me, as and when I approached them with my thesis related issues, and for providing me with immensely helpful suggestions. From the core of my heart I mention my thanks to both of them for the fruitful suggestions they provided during my presentations and academic discussions and for encouraging and above all inspiring me during my thesis journey.

I heartily acknowledge the cooperation, help and support of my colleagues Ms. Neelam Mahala and Ms. Aastha Mittal. They made the research discussions fruitful and interesting and also the tea time enjoyable.

BITS Pilani has been like a home away from home for me because of the people I met here and developed strong connections with them. Many people from the institute have directly or indirectly impacted this work and my heartfelt thanks to all of them. I would like to thank both my seniors and juniors for their support and would acknowledge the fact that fruitful academic discussions with them helped me immensely to bring this work to its fruitful completion.

I express my deepest gratitude to Prof. Sauvik Bhattacharya, Vice Chancellor, BITS Pilani, and acting Vice Chancellor Prof. R.N. Saha for providing me the opportunity to pursue Ph.D. from this institute. I would also like to thank Prof. Sudhir Kumar Barai, Director, BITS Pilani, Pilani Campus. I sincerely thank Prof. S.K. Verma, Dean – Administration, BITS Pilani, for his constant academic support and guidance in relation to official requirements in fulfillment of Ph.D. program.

I also express my gratitude to Prof. Jitendra Panwar, Associate Dean – Academic (AGSRD) and also Prof. Shibashish Chowdhury, Doctoral Research Convener (DRC), B.ITS Pilani for his constant official support and guidance. I would also like to thank nucleus members of AGSRD and all office staff of the division for their guidance in various official procedures associated with the doctoral program at BITS Pilani.

My heartfelt thanks to Prof. P. R. Deepa, Head of Department, Biosciences, BITS Pilani, for her encouragement and providing me with departmental support and facilities that helped me immensely in successful completion of all the experimental and technical parts of this thesis.

Finally, I thank my life – my parents (Mr. Birdi Chand and Mrs. Mishri Devi), I thank the universe for showering me with the blessings to be your son. I am indebted to my younger brother Mr. Parmanand and his wife Mrs. Deepika, my sister Mrs. Preeti and her husband Mr. Rakesh for their constant support and encouragement. I also thank all my extended family members for their continued support during my Ph.D. research.

Last but not the least, I thank my beloved wife, Mrs. Pooja for being always there as a partner and as a friend and support me during the thick and thin of my Ph.D. program and always showing full faith in my efforts and belief in my research pursuits. Lots of love to my sweetheart wife for being always motivating me and pushing me towards excellence. My beloved son Lakshya and niece Angelina have been like a tonic to me. Even a few moments in company of their giggles and mischievous acts instantly vaporizes any tensions that creeps in during the routine work.

In the end I would like to congratulate myself for this outstanding achievement!
