PREFACE

THIS chronology of six years incorporates those for the two years July 1921 to June 1922 and July 1922 to June 1923, which have already been issued separately. The work, which was started by Miss Baynes and Miss Cleeve, has been carried on, re-arranged, and verified by Miss Boulter. The difficulty of ascertaining the exact dates of recent events is well known to everybody who has had occasion to study contemporary affairs; and it is in the hope of meeting a practical need that the Institute has arranged for the production of this volume, in which the dates have not only been grouped under carefully chosen headings, but have been verified as far as possible from trustworthy sources. This verification would not have been possible without assistance from many quarters, including Government Departments and foreign Embassies and Legations in London, as well as from individual members of the Institute. The names are so many that only a general acknowledgement can be made; but those who consult this volume should realize that the process of verification—on the exactitude of which the value of a chronology depends—has demanded, both from the compilers and from all who have given their help, an amount of labour of which the finished work affords no indication.
