

ACKNOWLEDGMENTS

The thesis is a consolidation of ideas, theories, practices, imbibing the efforts of many experiences distinctly. It has been an enriching experience with collective inputs from different expertise across various domains. I would like to express heartfelt gratitude to my supervisor Prof. Tanu Shukla for her constant support in accomplishing the research. She mentored me in this journey with all the patience and knowledge she possesses. I am thankful beyond words to her for extending every possible resource she had to help me get over any barriers at the time of the research as well as while writing this thesis. Her attentiveness to the finest details and scientific approach has played a huge part in shaping this study. I also thank her for her friendship and empathy that gave me the confidence to continuously strive.

I also owe sincere gratitude to my Doctoral Advisory Committee members, Prof. Virendra Singh Nirban and Prof. Rajneesh Choubisa. Prof. Nirban has been a huge pillar of support for me in this entire journey. His experience and knowledge have helped me to solve all my problems while doing this research. I thank him for believing in my abilities, and for the constant encouragement and unconditional support, I have received from him. I sincerely thank Prof. Rajneesh to raise important queries timely that have played a huge role in shaping this thesis. He has shared his immense knowledge on the basics of research methodology and statistics in the initial phase of my Ph.D. which has helped me in many stages of my work. I sincerely thank both my Doctoral Advisory Committee members for their valuable help and constant support right from my coursework days to the conceptualization of the study and finally to the completion of this research. I express my earnest gratitude to Prof. P.C. Shukla, Director, Institute of Education, Bundelkhand University for providing me valuable insights in formulating the tools for this study, designing the sampling procedures and methodological framework. I am also grateful to our Head of the Department Prof. Devika Sangwan for her continuous support and motivation. I would also like to thank the office staff of the Humanities and Social Science department for always coming forward and extending any kind of help whenever needed at the administrative end.

I express my gratitude to the BITS Pilani library for their never-ending efforts to provide research students with all the required resources. I would also like to sincerely thank Prof. P. Geetha Rani and the National Institute of Educational Planning and Administration (NIEPA), New Delhi for allowing me to participate in the research methodology workshop and also allowing me to access their library which has proved to be a turning point in this research journey.

The principals, teachers, administrative staff, and the students of the schools that I visited for fieldwork were extremely cooperative. I genuinely thank the principals of these schools who ensured that I conducted the data collection smoothly, the teachers, and the students who willingly participated in the study. The smooth conduction of fieldwork would have not been possible without their help.

I record a special note of thanks to my friends, with whom I have grown both as a researcher and as a person. A warm thanks to Mr. Nayan Jyoti Nath for always helping me with the theoretical aspects of my research and for selflessly sharing all the academic information and opportunities. I want to convey my heartfelt thanks to Mrs. Mounika Prashanthi for giving constant feedback and also for being available for discussions at any front. I also want to thank Ms. Deepanjana Chakraborty for always extending help in every possible way.

Last but not the least, I must thank my father Mr. Pramil Kumar Dosaya, and my mother Mrs. Vinita Dosaya for extending all the possible help they could to make my research journey smooth and pleasant. No words can ever be enough to thank them for the emotional, moral, and financial help they have offered during the course of time. I would also like to acknowledge my sister Ms. Anu Dosaya for her strong support and belief in me and my abilities, and for always giving me the right advice whenever needed.
