

ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

I would like to express my heartfelt gratitude to my supervisor, Dr. Satyendra Kumar Sharma, who has been mentor, facilitator and guide at every stage of this research. He has introduced me to the intricacies of strategic sourcing risk management and his focused approach to research work has been inspirational. His positivity in addressing any emergent issues has been a source of constant encouragement. Dr. Rajesh Matai, my co-supervisor, embarked me on this journey of scientific learning. The remarkable patience and perseverance of both the supervisors in evaluating my work at important junctures, their constructive criticism and meaningful advice has enabled this process of learning to be a truly enriching one.

I owe a debt of gratitude to Prof. Souvik Bhattacharya, Vice Chancellor of BITS Pilani, whose inclusivity and focus on academic excellence has motivated faculty and students to attain higher standards of research and I have benefitted immensely working in such a conducive environment. I would like to thank all staff members and fellow research scholars of BITS Pilani for providing me the necessary support, help and encouragement extended to to me during my research work. I would particularly like to thank the following:-

- Prof. Ashoke Kumar Sarkar, Director BITS Pilani, Pilani campus, Prof. Srinivas Krishnaswamy, Dean Academic-Graduate Studies and Research, Prof. Hemant R. Jadhav and other staff members for providing me necessary infrastructure and other facilities.
- My special thanks to Prof. Anil Bhat, Prof. Jyoti Tikoria, Prof. Kuldip Singh Sangwan, Prof. Udayan Chanda, Prof. Srikant Routroy, Dr. Arun Kumar, Dr. Neetu Yadav and entire management department for encouraging support during my research work. The numerous debates and meaningful discussions regarding various aspects of this study have been most useful and they have always been forthcoming in sharing relevant resources.

The unstinted cooperation I received from the office bearers of the Indian Automobile Component Manufacturers Association (ACMA) and Society of Indian Automobile Manufacturers (SIAM) was extremely useful during all stages of this research. My sincere thanks to them for their patience and time in facilitating interactions with a cross section of practitioners in the industry and for their valuable insights which enabled a better understanding of issues in the complex automobile supply chain. I would also like to thank all the executives, who provided me invaluable data.

My ex ADG, Maj Gen S Bhattacharya, VSM (Retd.), my wife, Jyotsna, my children, Deep Shikha and Raunit Dalal, and my friends, Dr. Devender Bohra and Col. Pawan Ramdev are the ones whose motivation emboldened me to undertake this Ph.D. program and who shared with me the trials and tribulations during the course of research. I am immensely grateful for their support as well as of my colleagues.
