This Ph.D. thesis took quite some time to get its final shape. However, as I completed this work, I realized that it had been a good learning experience. This has enriched me both academically and personally.

I express my respect and deep gratitude to my supervisor Prof. Ajit Pratap Singh for his unconditional support, and valuable suggestions throughout the research work. The thesis would have stopped mid-way if he had not given me his moral support, constructive criticism, and the freedom for conducting this work.
